Shane Palmer is an associate in the Firm's Litigation Group. His practice spans a wide range of complex commercial litigation matters in federal and state courts, including securities class actions, breach-of-contract suits, intellectual property disputes, and shareholder derivative litigation. Mr. Palmer has represented clients in investigations and enforcement actions by government authorities, including the U.S. Department of Justice and the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission. He has also advised clients in high-tech industries on antitrust matters and has counseled clients on FCPA-related transactional issues and internal controls.

BAR ADMISSIONS
